Generalization error of feature ridge regression

The circles represent the empirical generalization error, the lines the deterministic equivalent. The colors encode the size of the regularization parameter of ridge regression. The features in the first plot are untrained random

